

CASSINA: OUR UNIVERSE

As times change, so too does design. This collection of seven prototypes by Cassina is a response to how digital technology, which has already transformed our working and social lives, will impact the design of our furniture.

'My Wing (built in)' coffee table by Cassina

Cassina and Carlo Ratti Associati have focused on three areas in the Our Universe collection: changing production methods led by new technology, investigating the ways we use our digital devices, and shaping how technology can be integrated into our furniture to provide new and more effective functions.

'My Wing (freestanding)' is a modular coffee table created using digital fabrication: its custom-built hinges give the structure maximum flexibility, allowing the table to be configured for a multitude of purposes, so we can use our devices and technology whenever we may need. 'My Wing (built in)' is its smaller relative, which can be used as a coffee table and be adapted into an armrest for a sofa.
